

WOLFGANG DRECHSLER is Professor of Governance at the Ragnar Nurkse Department of Innovation and Governance at Tallinn University of Technology, Estonia (TalTech), Honorary Professor of University College London in the UCL Institute of Innovation and Public Purpose, and Associate at Harvard University's Davis Center. In Tallinn, he is also an associate of the ERC 'Cosmolocalism' project and of the 'FinEst Twins: Helsinki and Tallinn as Smart and Sustainable Cities' EU Twinning grant (€32 million), based on a PhD thesis written under his supervision.

PhD University of Marburg, Graduate German University of Public Administration Speyer, Habilitation University of Tartu, SocScD (honorary doctorate) Corvinus University of Budapest. Wolfgang previously taught at the Universities of Marburg, Giessen, Frankfurt/Main, and Tartu (Chair of Public Administration); as André Molitor Chair (professeur invité) at the Université catholique de Louvain; as Visiting Professor at the Universities of Lund and of Erfurt, at the Central University of Finance and Economics Beijing, at the University of Malaya, at Zhejiang and at Gadjah Mada Universities, at the National Institute for Development Administration (NIDA) Bangkok, at the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, National University of Singapore; and as Erasmus faculty at the Universities of Salzburg (twice), again of Erfurt, and of Leiden (The Hague). In 2019, he was an ANZSOG Visiting Scholar. Wolfgang served as Vice Dean for International Relations of the TalTech Faculty of Social Sciences, 2010-16; and in 2012, he declined to become founding Dean of the Graduate School of Public Policy at Nazarbayev University. Since 2020, he is Chair of the Board of the European Association for Public Administration Accreditation (EAPAA).

In civil service, Wolfgang has been Advisor to the President of Estonia; Executive Secretary with the German Wissenschaftsrat during German Reunification; and, as an APSA Congressional Fellow, Senior Legislative Analyst in the United States Congress. He was vice chair of the executive board of PRAXIS, Estonia's pre-eminent public policy think-tank; member of the Innovation Policy Council of the Estonian Ministry of Economics; and member of the Lisbon Agenda Group.

Wolfgang has been a consultant to international institutions such as the OECD, the Council of Europe, SIGMA, the World Bank, the European Union (especially Commission and Parliament), the Inter-American Development Bank, UNDP, and the Vatican; to national governments (currently the Republic of Kosovo and Bhutan); and in the private sector. He is a board member of the Davis Center and of the Cologne Old Town Civic Association. Wolfgang has received the Estonian National Science Award; the Alena Brunovská Award and the Merit Award from NISPAcee; the Outstanding Alumnus Award from Bridgewater College; the Maarjamaa Rist, Estonia's Order of Merit; the German Federal Merit Cross; TalTech's Top Scientist award as best PhD advisor for three years in a row; and the Boorsma Award from SECoPA. He is the author or editor of more than 20 books and journal issues and well over 100 scholarly articles, as well as editor-in-chief of Halduskultuur: The Estonian Journal of Administrative Culture and Digital Governance and member of the editorial boards of IRPP, AJPA, PMM, IJPA, ThaiJPA, PPA (Lith), EJLE, NISPAceeJPAP, Trames, RWER, JIFE, JTCA, JoGPP, and others.

Wolfgang's areas of interest include Non-Western PA, Governance, and Economics, especially Buddhist, Confucian, and Islamic; Technology, Innovation & PA; and Public Management Reform generally. He also has an active interest in Political Philosophy and in Economic Theory. His regional foci are Southeast and East Asia and also Central and Eastern Europe. His book on Innovation Bureaucracies (with Rainer Kattel and Erkki Karo) will be published by Yale University Press in late 2022.